Which Do You Prefer?

It is important for reasons of health and practical economy for every housekeeper to ask herself this question:
"Do I prefer a pure baking powder like Royal, made of cream of tartar derived from grapes, or am I willing to use a baking powder made of alum or phosphate, both derived from mineral sources?"

The names of the ingredients printed on the label show whether the kind you are now using or any brand, new or old, that may be offered is a genuine cream of tartar powder, or merely a phosphate or alum compound.

Royal Baking Powder contains no alum nor phosphate.

GROUND GYPSUM HAS AFFINITY FOR WATER.
An early and for many years the principal use of gypsum in this country was its application by farmers to the land, with a view to make nonporous clay soils more previous to water, and to sweeten sour and acid soils. A characteristic of ground gypsum is that it has an affinity for water and will draw moisture from the atmosphere. This quality is a great factor in keeping moisture in the soil and is of value to the farmer in starting the growth of grain and grass as it holds moisture where the roots of the small plants most need it. The application of ground gypsum or land plaster to the soil will draw the moisture from the atmosphere and often save a crop from being damaged by drought. It is commonly applied to peanut vines to insure a crop.

The production of gypsum, according to the United States Geological Survey, Department of the Interior, has increased from 594,462 short tons in 1900 to 2,447,611 short tons in 1915.
